

Texas Crown Taken By Canyon In 1950

Canyon Eagles won the state-class A basketball crown in 1950.

It was satisfying to Canyon basketball fans that it was a San Antonio team from which the Canyon lads wrested the championship. Some fans who made the trip to the state play offs remembered that it was a San Antonio team which had stopped the only previous title bid of the Eagles.

The Eagles defeated South San Antonio by a lopsided score of 49 to 25 for the 1950 title. Brackenridge of San Antonio had tipped Canyon 22-21 for the championship 24 years earlier.

The Eagles overwhelmed all competition in the 1950 state tournament.

The best showing made against them was by Gaston in the opening game. Even then the Eagles trampled the Red Devils 54 to 32 and went on to swamp the Buffaloes from Birdville 38 to 19 to advance into the final round.

Troy Burrus and Joe Abbott made the all-state team. Ray Burrus and Garland Butler made honorable mention. A great deal of the credit for the win went to Bruce Winn, who did an outstanding job.

Making the trip to Austin were Joe Abbott, Ray Burrus, Bob Busted, Garland Butler, Billy Morton, Glen Prater, Bob Ratliff, Harrell Slack, Troy Burrus, Billy Samples, Bruce Winn, Robert McClendon, Richard Payne and Carl Crow. George Scott was coach that year.

The Eagles went to state the following year but were dropped 33-32 by the Sinton Pirates in the first round. The Eagles closed out their season that year with 29 wins and 8 losses.

Pancake Day Set Saturday

Pancake Day, an annual event of the Kiwanis Club, will be staged all day Saturday from 6 a.m. until 8 p.m.

This is the first year for the event to be held all day. Local Kiwanis members will preside at the American Legion Hall where the pancakes will be served for breakfast, lunch and supper.

All proceeds will go to support activities of the youth in Canyon such as Kids Inc. Football, Babe Ruth and Little League baseball, and the junior girls softball.

Tickets are on sale for $1.00 and pre-school children will be admitted free.

Wear Hat In Ring For School Board

Bob Wear has announced for reelection to the board of trustees of Canyon Independent School District rounding out a field of four candidates for two offices.

Others in the race are Walter Graham, Newton Crain and A. W. Lair.

Wear has served one term on the board and currently is serving as board president.

Wear is minister of Canyon Church of Christ and has lived in this community for the past eight years, having moved here from Hereford.

Begert, Lisle Make Regional First String

The Eagles roared by Denver City early Saturday afternoon and then outlasted Seymour in the finals Saturday night to emerge regional champions.

This was at the regional basketball tournament in Lubbock.

Two Eagles made all-regionals. They were Bob Begert and Harry Lisle. Begert is center and Lisle is a guard. Both played superbly during the tournament.

Begert was named Monday to an all-state berth.

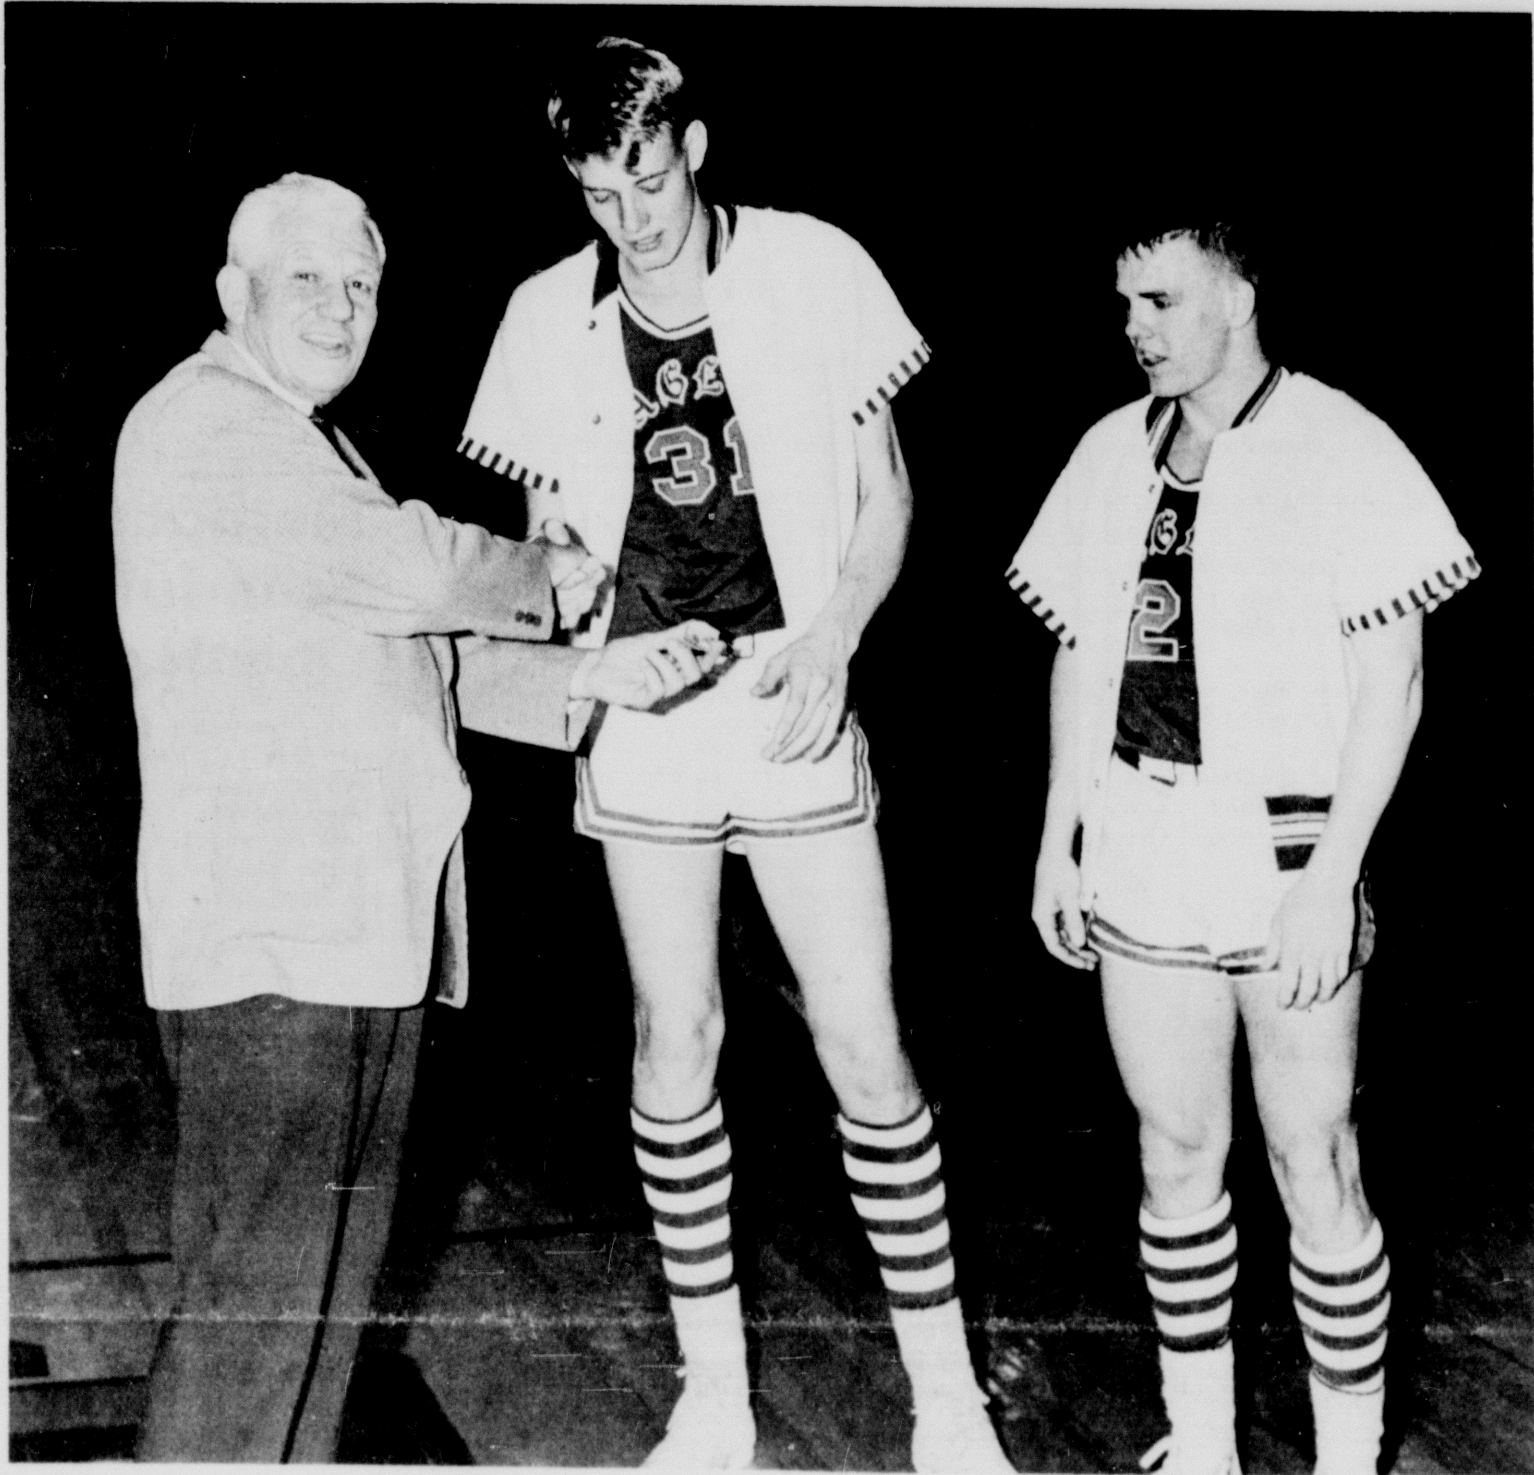

The Eagles ripped Denver City's Mustangs 61-51 in the first game and then pulled ahead of Seymour in the closing minutes of the final contest to clinch the crown.

Begert was far and away the star of the tournament. In spite of the fact that the Panthers put two and sometimes three men on him, the lanky Eagle center scored 25 points in the contest with Seymour.

The Eagles spurred to a lead early in the game but Seymour balanced out at the free throw line. By the end of the first period the Panthers led 14-11.

Each team was scoring every time it got the ball and the importance of points loomed out

Hopes High As Team Hits Austin Trail

Canyon's Eagles play in the first round of the state AA basketball tournament this afternoon.

Coach Allen Simpson's charges meet John Foster Dulles High School of Missouri City at 3:10 o'clock this afternoon in Gregory Gymnasium on the University of Texas Campus.

Winner of that game will meet the winner of the Buna-Gladewater game at 7:35 o'clock Saturday night for the state championship.

The Eagles whipped Denver City 61 to 51 in the opening game of the regional tournament Saturday at Lubbock and then trimmed Seymour 49 to 43 for the regional championship Saturday night.

The Eagles go into the state meet with a 23-10 win loss record. Canyon's most versatile man is big Bob Begert, Eagle all-state center.

The big center was named Monday to the Texas Dream Team.

Begert stands 6 feet, five and is a senior this year. He has a point average of 20.7 per game. Bob plays center.

He has scored 684 points in 33 outings this season to break all Canyon High School scoring records.

Freddie Poole, 6 foot, 3 inch junior has an average of 8.9 points per game. He plays forward. Don Breitting, the other forward, is an even 6 feet tall. He is a junior and has a 7.4 scoring average.

Harry Lisle is 5 feet, 8 inches tall and is a senior. He plays guard and has a 7.9 scoring average. Davis Price is 6 feet tall and is a senior. He is a guard and has a 3.7 scoring record for the season.

The Eagles left Canyon by bus at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. They stopped for the night at Abilene and worked out in the Hardin-Simmons gymnasium.

They completed the trip to Austin Wednesday and will be staying at the Terrace Hotel there until the end of the state tournament.

They worked out in Gregory Gymnasium Wednesday afternoon.

EagleCagers Of 1926 Played Closest Game

BY TROY MARTIN

Canyon Eagles have been to state play offs three times over the years, won state in 1950 and lost by a single point the other two times they were in contention.

Probably the biggest thriller of them all was in 1926 when Mitchell Jones, now West Texas State dean of men, was high school coach here.

The Eagles were playing Brackenridge of San Antonio. The clock was running out and the score was 22-21 in favor of Brackenridge.

Jim Strain, now a Canyon farmer, got off a shot. The ball lodged against the backboard. If it had rolled free it almost certainly would have been a basket and Canyon would have won the state crown 23-22.

Canyon was the bomb shell that year. They went to the state meet unknown and seemingly outclassed. They were the smallest team there.

Canyon's first round opponent, Stephenville, even was scheduled for play later in the tournament and this was published in the Austin newspaper.

The Eagles rolled over Stephenville and then tripped mighty Brownwood, a top-seeded quintet, to get to Brackenridge.

In the consolation round the Eagles lost another heartbreaker. This one was to Austin High School 17 to 16.

Curtis and Buster Brown were chosen to the all-state team by the unanimous vote of eight sportswriters who covered the tournament. Curtis played forward and Buster played guard.

Sportswriters hailed Buster as one of the greatest athletes ever to have attended the meet up to that time. Every member of the Canyon team was mentioned for all-state honors.

The Canyon team had a rare opportunity for revenge a couple of years later, according to Boone McClure.

Among those on the Canyon High School team that year were Pat Gerald, Wallace Otis, Buster Brown, J. D. Hazlewood, Curtis Brown, Cleve Jones and Jim Strain.

On the Brackenridge team were Rut Vining, Frank Cheatham, Nona Reese, Bull Elkins and Bigun Rose.

A couple of years later, according to McClure, West Texas State clobbered the University of Texas.

On the UT team were Buster Brown, J. D. Hazlewood, Jim Strain, Cleve Jones and Curtis Brown.

On the University of Texas team were Vining, Cheatham, Reese, Elkins and Rose. It was sweet revenge!

Lubbock Minister Emphasis Speaker

Virgil R. Trout, minister of the Sunset Church of Christ in Lubbock, will be speaker for the annual Willson Lecture Series which opens Tuesday at West Texas State College. Coinciding with the series will be observance of Religious Emphasis Week.

Trout's addresses will be made Tuesday through Friday at 10:15 a.m. in the Administration Building auditorium, and the public is invited. Classes will be shortened each day to free students for the hour's lecture.

General topic chosen by Trout is "The Quest and the Questions (Man's Search for Himself in a Technical Age)".

Visiting ministers and laymen, representing each of the student church centers on campus, will participate in the week's activities, by conducting bull sessions at night, visiting classes, and conducting vesper services.

Bishop John L. Morkovsky, S.T.D., of Amarillo, will speak on, and show slides of, the Ecumenical Council, which he has been attending in Rome, on March 13 at 7:30 p.m. The program will be in the Grand Ball Room at WT's Student Union Building, and a panel discussion on the council will close the program.

Trout, who has been minister of the Sunset Church of Christ since 1959, has also served in churches in Waurika, Okla., Levelland, and was chaplain at the University of New Mexico. He is the author of several articles and of two books, "Christian Fundamentals -- A Modern Examination," and "Overcoming Doubts and Strengthening Faith."

City Gets County Truck As Row Ends

Rendall County gave its fire truck to the city of Canyon this week.

This ended the city-county rural fire contract squabble.

Motion was made by Commissioner Glenn Dowlen and seconded by Bill Butler. When the vote came, Commissioner B. R. Jones voted nay and Clarence Beckman abstained.

The county had proposed that the city maintain the county truck and that it remain county property but be used by the city fire department. The city refused and countered with two propositions.

The first proposition was that the county dispose of the truck. The second was that the county give the truck to the city.

Canyon Fire Department will continue to fight rural fires under an existing contract with the county by which the city receives $100 for each rural fire call.

The county has similar contracts with Amarillo and Happy.

In other business, Hosea Foster, Buddy Taylor and Jack Taylor appeared before the court to protest the closing of a road which leads to the city's sewerage disposal plant.

Schramm is a 6 foot, 3 inch junior with a 13 point scoring record. Senior is a 6-foot junior with a scoring average of 13 points per game.

John Foster Dulles beat out Donna 61-52 for the regional championship last week end. If the Eagles get by John Foster Dulles, they still have a weedy row to hoe with the winner of the Buna-Gladewater tussle.

Buna is defending state champions, having won the title the past two years and three times out of the past four years.

Their big gun is Hatch, who is a senior with 15 points per game this year. He is 6 feet, 1 inch tall. Hillin has scored 13 points a game for his team this year. Ross and Jim Richardson 8 points each per game and John Richardson has a 6-point average.

Reece, a senior, has scored 6 points a game.

Buna has an awesome 36-2 win and loss record for the season.

Gladewater has a 22-4 win and loss record for the season.

Their top hand is O'Brien with 18 points a game to his credit. Ray has scored 16 points a game this year and Gibbon has a record of 15 points per game. Sorrelleis has scored 13 points per game. Jones, 9 points and Cagle 5 points per game.

"Our kids think they can win," said Coach Simpson. "They have confidence."

This is Simpson's third year at CHS. He is a Borger boy and a 1958 graduate of West Texas State College. He played Buff basketball three years as a starter under Gus Miller and then Borden Price.

Making the trip to the state tournament as members of the team were Begert, Poole, Brei-ling, Lisle, Price, Glen Met-calf, Jim Whinnery, Steve Bur-gess, Bobby Evans and Alex deSchweinitz.

of normal proportion. And it was this way down to the wire.

At half-time the Panthers led by the same three points. The score was 26-23 in favor of Seymour. By the end of the third period the Eagles had reversed the margin and led by three big points, 38 to 35.

It was an emotion-packed fourth period.

Seymour led 42 to 40 with 2 minutes, 24 seconds left on the clock. The Eagles fed to Begert, who was standing in range. Begert flipped. The ball swished the netting for what might have been the tying two points but the buzzer had sounded and the time clock was out of order.

Officials ruled that the crucial tying points did not count.

The clock repaired, the ball went into play just over the line in the Seymour end of

Ronnie Davis Is Winner At Press Meeting

Ronald Davis, Canyon High School photographer and yearbook editor, was a three-time winner Saturday in competition for awards given annually by the Panhandle High School Press Association. The group met for the 29th annual convention at West Texas State College.

Davis won a first place trophy for news photography, took a third place award in the same category, and was second place winner in yearbook photography.

Canyon's yearbook, "Soaring Eagle", won third place in its division in yearbook competition. Mary Westfall was a third place winner in editorials.

Winner of the Canyon News trophy, given for best news story, was Kathy Auxer of Lubbock High School.

New officers selected for the association were Carole Sinclair of Palo Duro, Amarillo, president; Jennifer Turner of Pampa, vice president; Cynthia Seed of Hereford, secretary; and Art Haley of Canyon, treasurer.

Morning meetings were divided into newspaper and yearbook clinics, with Mrs. Betty Stanley of Monterey and Bill Dean of Lubbock, conducting yearbook sessions, and Mrs. Norma Foreman of Tascosa and Robert Wylie of Palo Duro, conducting newspaper sessions.

Canyon News By Plane To Cage Tourney

This week's issue of The Canyon News should be in the hands of the Canyon Eagle basketball team before their first game Thursday afternoon.

Jim Martin was to take several copies to Amarillo Air Terminal and put them aboard Braniff's Flight 167 at 6:20 o'clock Thursday morning.

Joe Abbott was to pick up the papers at 9:22 Thursday morning and take them to Terrace Motel where the Eagles are staying in Austin.

If all goes well at Austin, Jim Martin is to board a plane himself later in the week and join the team for the championship contest.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Billingsly over the week end were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Carmachal and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Clearman of Hereford.

the court. It was like seeing a back-up replay of the same film.

The ball was fed down to Begert and swish, the game was tied.

The Eagles went on to score seven more points while holding the Panthers to a single tally in the meantime. Don Brei-ling hit the hoop for the final counter as the buzzer ended the game with Canyon leading 49 to 43.

Harry Lisle was runner up for high point honors for Canyon with 12 points to his credit.

In the Denver City game, Begert hit the basket with 31 points to lead Eagle scoring. Eddie Poole was second with 12 points while Lisle scored 11.

Five minutes, 42 seconds had elapsed in the first quarter before Begert tallied the first field goal for Canyon. Up to this point all the Eagle scoring had been done on free throws.

The Eagles led 16-13 at the end of the first quarter and held a commanding lead of 33 to 22 by half time.

The strong all court press defense played by Denver City slowed but never stalled the great offensive play of the Eagle team. It did, however, cause Denver City to commit 24 fouls and Canyon 15.

Final score was 61 for the Eagles and 51 for Denver City.

corner of this road and Twenty-Third Street. There is some question as to whether the thoroughfare is a county road or alley.

The Taylors and Foster told the court that the road has been blocked.

It is located at the south edge of Canyon.

"It's kind of complicated," said City Manager Bill York.

He said the north ditch of the road in question is designated as an alley on the plat of the Conner Addition.

He said the south part of the road lies outside of the city and, therefore, outside city jurisdiction at the present time.

He said the road is included in the Ponderosa Addition, which has been passed on the first reading for annexation to the city.

The court authorized the advertising for bids for a dry copying machine.

Commissioners court also authorized First National Bank of Canyon to change $75,000 worth of treasury notes at 2 1/2 percent for a similar amount at 3 5/8 percent and to change the depository of the notes from an Amarillo bank to a Dallas bank.

The bonds in question are not county property but county depository collateral.

This may come as news to you, but aspirin is one of those drugs that may be of a deductible nature on your federal income tax return.

But to claim it, you must be able to offer proof you bought it.

When you buy it from us, you get that proof. But when you buy it at the corner grocery, or in a department store, or in a restaurant, you are likely to forget about it.

That goes for a lot of other things, too—such as antiseptics, cough and cold preparations, laxatives, and so on.

Our customers like to buy all of their drug supplies from us, because they know they will get the benefit of a complete record of all purchases of a deductible nature.

Our customers get an annual statement (mailed in February) which tells them how much they spent on drugs of a deductible nature. It's called a DrugTax record, and we offer it to our customers free of charge.

Next time you buy aspirin (or any drug item), be sure you're in a store that gives you a DrugTax record. Come income tax time, it can save you money.

Firemen are shown here battling the blaze which destroyed the Bud Hickman barn east of here on Palo Duro Highway the latter part of last week. No dairy stock were in the barn at the time. Dairy equipment belonging to Bill Sherer was housed there.

Bud Hickman Barn Burns

Fire early Friday morning destroyed the Bud Hickman milk barn one mile east of Canyon.

The blaze consumed the wood and stucco barn and damaged most of its new stainless steel milking equipment. Firemen said the fire may have been started by a gas heater.

Hickman said he didn't have any insurance on the building and he doubted that the new milking equipment was insured. The barn is leased to Bill Sherer. It was Sherer's equipment that was in the barn at the time of the fire.

Hickman said damage, in addition to the gutted barn, would include the new milking machines with a 500 gallon stainless steel tank, 3 tons of dairy rations, a well pump and assorted extra dairy equipment that was also stored in the barn.

Hickman estimates the building was worth $3,000 and the dairy equipment about $3,000 to $6,000. He said it might be possible to salvage some of the equipment.

Sherer runs about 35 head of Holsteins and employs three part-time college boys to do the milking. Hickman said the cows are temporarily being milked at the Richmond Hales barn.

Gay Gibson's taste of Spring

Whipped up in flowers-and-candy colors, these six Gay Gibsons have one thing in common: they're almost too pretty to be real.

Each has its own fashion flavor accents—calico flowers, tucks, embroidery or lace.

Yummy confections to wear at the first breath of Spring and on into Summer.

All in sizes 5 to 15.

BISHOP MORKOVSKY

The basis of his presentation, to be supported by comments from his own experience at the Vatican Council, will consist of a series of 70 slides and a written commentary produced by the Rev. Bradford Young, rector of Grace Episcopal Church, Manchester, New Hampshire.

The Rev. Young also took documentary pictures at the World Council of Churches Assemblies at Amsterdam 1948, Evanston 1954, and New Delhi 1961, in addition to numerous Lambeth Conferences and other Church conventions.

The panel will then begin

Higley Urges Sportsmen To Make Desires Known

"You fellows can get better hunting and fishing--if you will go after it," Morris Higley, Texas Game and Fish Commissioner, told members of Randall County Sportsmen's Club Thursday night of last week.

Higley, who publishes the Childress Index, spoke at a constitution ratification meeting of the club.

"I feel that sportsmen's clubs can do a great deal for their area," Higley told the group. He said the Texas Game and Fish Commission listens to sportsmen's clubs but that in his history with the commission, "...not one representative from the Panhandle has appeared before the commission."

Higley referred specifically to the proposed transplanting of mule deer in Briscoe and Floyd Counties several years ago. He said the proposal was approved and ready to roll when the game and fish commission ran into its recent reorganization.

"The mule deer got lost in the shuffle," he said.

He told the group that the proposal could have been reactivated this year instead of next.

"Had there been a sportsmen's club that was awake, they could have informed me and we could have had that plant (the mule deer) this year instead of next," Higley said.

Higley told the sportsmen that he thought they should go to the game commission to get what they want.

"You've got the Barbary sheep in the canyon (Palo Duro). If those animals are taken care of, you should have a good game crop in a few years," Higley said.

Speaking of projects the club could get interested in, Higley said, "We are going to need a fish hatchery in this part of the state. Maybe two. I think it should be in the center of the Panhandle," he said.

"I don't know exactly where it should be located, but it should be centrally placed to economize on travel," he said. He said the hatchery should be centrally located so as to equalize travel in the Panhandle to all the lakes.

Speaking of the coming merger between the game commission and the state parks board, Higley said, "I don't know what is going to happen to the game commission--no one does."

Speaking of the proposed three man governor-appointed commission for the merged agencies, Higley said, "When any governor gets through serving Dallas, Ft. Worth and Houston, there will be nothing left for West Texas."

"Even a three-man commission from these cities would listen if I can get some representatives from West Texas," Higley declared. He said a sportsmen's club is also being organized in Childress, his home town.

Higley told the group that the present game commission and the state parks board are both against the merger.

He said he thought the parks board should be under the highway department, "...where they've got the engineers, equipment and money."

Other speakers at the sportsmen's club meeting included L. J. Witkowski, Canyon sporting goods and camping trailer dealer.

Witkowski told the group of the coming access problem for Panhandle citizens on the Canadian Reservoir.

Witkowski showed the group a map of the reservoir outlining the five proposed recreation areas bordering it.

He said the government had an option to purchase the land for the areas but that unless it is purchased, the land would revert to private ownership.

"Now is the time we should be doing something about it," he said. "If the access disappears, the average boy is going to pay through the nose to get to the lake," he said.

Bob Brown, manager of the Buffalo Lake Wildlife Refuge, told the group of the master plan the Department of Interior has started for construction of recreational areas at the lake.

"The primary purpose of the lake is to furnish refuge for ducks and geese. This particular part of Texas has a tremendous concentration of ducks and geese and consequently we restrict the area for their welfare," Brown said.

He emphasized that the waterfowl were on the refuge only during the cold winter months when the lake isn't used for recreation and that when the waterfowl leave in March, the refuge is opened up for recreation.

Speaking of the master plan for recreation at the lake, Brown said the first project would be an improved system of roads. He spoke of a main access road that would go all or nearly all the way around the lake.

The second project under the master plan would be parking. The addition and improvement of recreation facilities including restrooms, water, camping and picnic units would be a part of the added recreation facilities.

He pointed out, however, that the plan still has to be approved by the Washington office and then the funds have to be made available for construction of all these projects.

Brown said he anticipated the first construction money by 1965. Brown made especial mention of a game management area on the refuge where free hunting might be established. He said that he had personally recommended that a public hunting area for quail and rabbits be established as a part of the improved recreation at the refuge.

Brown said he hopes the coming Canadian Reservoir will take some of the recreation pressure off the refuge. He mentioned the possibility of a game management area on the reservoir, saying that it might make a worthwhile project for the club.

Brown also emphasized that he is always open to suggestions concerning management of the refuge and that anyone is welcome to contribute his thoughts along those lines.

The sportsmen finished out the evening by watching a color movie on the Wichita National Wildlife Refuge in Oklahoma.

Park Service Historian Visits Ranches Here

Bill E. Brown, National Park Service Historian for the Southwest Region with headquarters at Santa Fe, New Mexico, was in Canyon recently doing research on early Texas ranches and ranch houses.

Brown is visiting some of the important and historical Texas Panhandle ranches in connection with the National Historical Survey of Historical Sites and Buildings in the Southwest.

Of particular interest to Brown is the famous JA Ranch in Palo Duro Canyon. Brown, in company with Jack Hughes, curator of paleontology for the museum, toured parts of the JA Wednesday and photographed the buildings of the ranch.

Other ranches Brown is interested in include the XIT Ranch headquarters at Channing and the "lost site" of the home of Oliver Loving, Sr., where the Texas Cattle Raisers Association was supposed to have been founded.

Brown said the research is part of a national survey of historic and archeologic sites and buildings throughout the United States. The purpose of the survey is to gather information on all significantly important sites in the human history of America.

He said the survey is divided into 21 periods of history and prehistory. These periods are designed to cover the major groupings of aboriginal history from the earliest known culture to the American Indian of today and the groupings of European exploration and settlement, through the colonial period, the major wars and thorough westward expansion to the development of America as a major world power.

Of interest to Texans is the period of westward expansion. The theme of this period is so broad that the National Park Service historians have divided it into sub-periods. One of these sub-divisions is the Southwestern cattle empire, its history and development.

The study of Texas Panhandle ranches and ranch sites is a part of this survey on the cattle empire.

The Registry of National Historic Landmarks, an outgrowth of the National Historic Survey on which Brown is working, recognizes historical and archeological sites as being of exceptional historical value.

While these sites are recognized by the survey, they are not units of the National Park Service. The owner of the site may apply for a certificate attesting to the exceptional value of the site.

Purpose of the registry is to identify important segments of America's heritage and to bring them to the attention of the American people.

Brown said some of the Texas Panhandle ranches, especially the JA Ranch, may be of significant historical value to warrant its being placed in the Registry of National Historical Landmarks.

Brown said that in order to qualify for the registry, the structures or sites at which historical events occurred must have made an outstanding contribution to and be identified with the broad cultural, political, economical, military or social history of the nation from which the visitor to the site can grasp the larger patterns of American heritage.

Brown said other criteria for inclusion in the registry are that historic structures or sites should be associated importantly with the lives of outstanding historic personages or should be significantly associated with an important event which best represents some great ideal or idea of the American people.

Also included in sites eligible for the registry are archeological sites which have produced information of major scientific importance by revealing past cultures or by shedding light upon periods of occupation over large areas of the United States. Brown said these sites are those which have produced or may produce data affecting theories, concepts and ideas to a major degree.

When you purchase a print of a painting, or remove an old print from a frame, you may be interested in the date or method of printing, or country, then you probably have noticed that the artist's name and a lithograph company are printed on a margin of the paper. This is the usual method of most work found in all stores today.

Lithography uses flat pieces of Bavarian limestone for plate material. The print maker creates the image with grease pencils and with brushes charged with a greasy liquid called tusche. These markings are to print. Those areas which are to remain white in the final print are left untouched. The greasy materials leave in the stone an impression which is strengthened by chemicals to insure that it will subsequently exhibit a special affinity for the greasy ink with which the roller is charged.

The plate itself is hydrosopic, that is to say, it holds water, and its surface is moistened before the image is rolled up with ink. Greasy ink cannot penetrate these wet areas and the water cannot penetrate the greasy image, which readily accepts the roller's ink.

In printing, the plate is always kept wet. Paper is placed on the stone. The two are run through a press and an impression taken off on the paper. In the 19th century much fine pictorial work was executed on stone. Commercial lithography then used stone exclusively.

The famous colored prints produced by Nathaniel Currier and J. Meritt Ives in New York after 1857, fine pieces of Americana recording 19th-century manners, customs, and famous men and events, were lithographed. Goya, Daumier, and Toulouse-Lautrec are also noteworthy among those who produced fine lithographs.

In serigraphy the artist creates the image on a sheet of fine woven silk stretched flat on a wooden frame. In printing, the screen is in direct contact with the paper. Semi-liquid paint is poured on the screen and forced through the screen and onto the paper by the use of a rubber squeegee. Image creation involves making a stencil of the screen to prevent paint from reaching those parts which by design are to remain white.

In the pioneer days of art serigraphy, stencils were made with cut paper and film, and areas tended to be unbroken and flat. As time went on, artists developed stencil methods involving adhesives which could be painted or drawn on the screen; the paint solvents could not touch the adhesives, which could later be removed from the screen. Pigment quality ranges from thick and opaque to thin and transparent, from mat to glossy. Metallic and highly luminous pigments may be used.

Many other variations of this method also obtain results, but this is the technique described by "Elements of Design" by Donald Anderson.

Many machines and new methods are constantly being used in commercial printing. Serigraphy, which we know best as the silk screen process is used widely. This is used often on cloth, too. Lithography is used in offset work, photo-offset, and a metal plate is used in place of stone.

There are many ways to do monoprints, stencils, and other art forms of printing, but each one would have to be discussed in much detail. These are fun to collect, too. Don't let yourself be satisfied with commercial store-type prints, always be on the lookout for original work. There is an abundance of original work in our area.

"AA" REGIONAL CHAMPS

PHOTOS BY RANDY WARREN

by Troy Martin FROM THE CANYON RIM

We saw some champions in action at Lubbock Saturday night.

With 2:24 left in the Seymour game, the time clock went on the blink at the regional basketball tournament just as Bob Begert sank a crucial field goal that would have tied the score.

The goal didn't count. We believe at that moment the Canyon Eagles proved themselves worthy to represent the region at the state tournament.

The players didn't say a word about the costly call. Coach Allen Simpson conferred quietly with game officials.

He didn't stomp, yell or curse. He accepted the decision. The Canyon Eagles had been handed a lemon and they used it to make lemonade. They rested for more than five minutes.

When the ball went back into play they promptly scored, and they scored again and again, utilizing every opportunity.

Remember, they were under tremendous pressure all the time. The pressure was so heavy that even some Eagle fans in the stands wept, so you can imagine the strain on the players on the court.

We drew a lesson from the example of the Canyon Eagles Saturday night.

Right now the community is under great strain over the school situation. Emotion is involved and the easy thing to do would be to give way to emotion.

The Eagles thought they got the raw end of a bad call Saturday night. If they had given way to emotion, it probably would have cost them a chance at the state championship.

The only way we adults can be worthy of those fine boys who carry Canyon's colors to Austin this week is to approach community problems sensibly as adults, ready to make the best even of what we might believe to be a bad situation.

Our plea to the people of Canyon right now is to check out every rumor before you repeat it.

If you're not willing to put down on paper and sign it, don't say it. We'll go even further. If you're not willing to put it down on paper, sign it and have it published, don't say it.

This tickles us, Mrs. Bobby

Odom gave birth to twins last week. She sent her dentist, Dr. W. J. Wooten, a cigar. Explaining that with two more mouths to feed she was forced to economize somewhat, she split the cigar down the middle and sent two halves along—a half for each twin.

Well, the city-county fire contract hassle seems to be settled. We wonder what will be next. There seems always to be a bone of contention.

Tax equalization and dividend of the road and bridge fund is due for consideration any time now. That should feed the fires of controversy for a few weeks.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

My mother is in a nursing home in Clovis, N.M. The manager is planning to open another one but has not decided on a location. I have heard several people express the hope that a home could be built here. I would like to hear from any one who is interested.

Thank you,
Mrs. Clyde Miller
1000 4th Ave.
Canyon, Texas

Tenure And Seniority

Though a good and faithful employee, private or public, should have his reward, tenure and seniority can be extremely dangerous.

Seniority is a common appeal of the politician seeking re-election, especially to the Senate or House of Representatives. In reality, seniority in these two branches of government often hands over the reins of important and powerful committees to men whose single nebulous qualification is the fact that they have been able to remain at the public trough for a long period of time.

Thus bad government sometimes is able to perpetuate itself.

We call attention to the case of Adam Clayton Powell who serves New York's Harlem district as a U.S. Congressman at odd times when he's not vacationing in Puerto Rico.

As for tenure, it should be based on past performance rather than mere length of service.

Tenure is a much-abused method of job holding, especially in the realm of civil service. No man has a right to any job just because he has had it a long time.

Tenure rules such as those found in areas of civil service and other government jobs already have created a vast group of untouchables who can thumb their collective noses at the people who ante up the cash to pay them. We contend that the master is greater than the servant and the question of who goes and who stays should be answered by those who pay the bill.

Exchange Student

Question: Shall we continue to have an American Field Service foreign student in our city?

To be answered by: You, the citizen of Canyon, and by Canyon organizations—civic, business, social.

Do you want an American Field Service foreign student in Canyon during the coming year?

We, the officers of the Canyon Chapter of the American Field Service, do. We consider having such a student worthwhile, both for the student and for the youngsters of Canyon. We consider it a project which contributes to international understanding and good will.

Last year you enjoyed meeting and knowing Miss Ineke Tempelman who came from Gouda, Holland, lived with the Jack Haley family, was graduated from Canyon High School, and is now back home telling everyone what a fine place the United States is, and in particular, what a wonderful place Canyon, Texas, is.

This year you have met, or you should meet, Miss Milagros Hernandez from the Philippines who is living with the Charles Nester family and going to Canyon High School.

To date the necessary work in connection with bringing a foreign student to Canyon has been done by the seven officers of the Chapter, with the assistance, largely in the form of contributions of money, from interested organizations and individuals.

If the project is to be continued, we feel that it must be continued by the active participation of many, and not by the efforts of a few.

To bring a foreign student to Canyon, the Chapter must find a family qualified and willing to have the student in its home. The Chapter must then contribute $700 to the American Field Service, which amount is used along with what the student's family contributes to bring the student from his home to Canyon and to return him home at the end of the year. While in Canyon the expenses of the student are taken care of to a degree by the student who receives an allowance of $14 a month from the American Field Service, but largely by the family with whom the student lives, with certain school expenses donated by Canyon High School and its student organizations.

We believe that to do the job right on the financial side, you (individuals and organizations) should pledge $1,000 on each student brought to Canyon—$700 to be sent to the American Field Service, and $300 to be kept by the Chapter to be used for the student after he arrives in Canyon, as the Chapter decides.

We believe that if the $1,000 is contributed by 100 individuals or organizations giving $10 each, we will have the broad community interest the project should have. If 10 individuals or organizations contribute $100 each, we'll have the $1,000, but no broad community interest.

We feel, too, that in addition to contribution, you as an individual or as representative of your civic, social, or business organization will need to become an active Chapter member -- to attend Chapter meetings, elect Chapter officers, and show a participating interest in the foreign student, his welfare, and his needs while he is in our city.

How do you feel?

Well, if you feel that this is not what you want for Canyon -- if you feel that your contribution or that of your organization should rather be made to some other project, you need do nothing. We will assume that you have decided for good reason that you do not want the American Field Service project continued.

But if you feel that this is what we want to do in Canyon, please write or telephone one of the officers listed below, and say --

I wish to be listed as an active member of the Chapter.

I pledge the sum of $_____ as an individual (or as representative of _____ organization) to be paid about August 1, 1964, if by that date the American Field Service has advised the Chapter that a Canyon family will have a foreign student during 1964-65.

Do it now. We plan not to write anyone or telephone anyone about this since we do not wish to engage in any kind of promotional campaign to sell you on the project. If you would like to have additional information about the project, please ask one of us.

Think it over.

Note: You may wonder why we are not planning to have a foreign student for next year, 1963-64. We feel that the Chapter needs to be organized as broadly representative of our city before we undertake to have a student another year. Such organization cannot be accomplished in time for the Chapter to secure a student for 1963-64 since the American Field Service requires application forms for a 1963-64 student by February 15, 1963.

Hilltop Views

As this column has stated before Frank Hill edits and publishes The Canyon News down at the thriving little city of Tahoka. Now I don't want to tarnish his reputation, but he is my nephew, the son of E. I. Hill, former editor of the same paper and dimmutive brother of mine. Incidentally, Frank's dad, though not much larger than a bantam rooster had more fire and fight than a world champion boxer. Many a time as his younger brother I felt his fraternal punch in a very convincing measure.

But I'm not analyzing E. I. today. It's Frank and some of his doings that interest me this time. He has a column that he calls Printer's Inklings and it is always worth reading even if he is off-side a good deal of the time, especially in politics.

Last week he quoted at some length part of a speech by Dr. Gerald W. Thomas, Dean of Agriculture at Texas Tech. He doesn't tell the gentleman's subject but I'm inferring that it must have been "The Fix We Are In."—that is, judging from Frank's quotation which follows:

"The population of the United States in December 1963 reached an estimated 189,000,000; however there are 73 million over 60 years of age. This leaves only 119 million people to do the work. People under 21, total 68 million, which leaves 50 million to do the work, and there are 21 million employed by the government—that leaves just 29 million to do the work. 12 million are in the Armed forces, leaving 17 million to do the work; if you deduct 16 million 800 thousand this is the number in state and city offices; that leaves only 200,000 people to do the work. There are 126,000 in hospitals, insane asylums, etc., and that leaves 74,000 to do the work, but 26,000 of these are bums or others who won't work, so that leaves only 12,000 to do the work. Now it may interest you to know that there are 11,998 in jail so that leaves but 2 people to do the work and that's you and me, brother, and I'm getting tired of doing everything by myself."

As though the above is not funning enough Frank added these other jokes.

"My husband and I like the same thing but I like to spend it and he likes to save it."

Fond mother: "Willie you've been a naughty boy. Go to the vibrator and give yourself a good shaking."

A Time To Think

Canyon trustees during the next few weeks will be selecting a new superintendent to whom will be entrusted the most precious asset of the community—its children.

The man to fill the job already has a good position. A man who does not would not fill the bill.

This is a time for the people of Canyon to look for common ground, to seek unity. This is a time for much thought before talk.

Let each one of us think well before making an utterance which might cause strife to the detriment of our school and our children.

The man Canyon needs for school superintendent will not come to a split community. The aim of every person interested in the Canyon School System should be the same—a good school.

Let us all work toward that goal. That is our responsibility.

Barbary Sheep Flourish

BY JIM THOMAS

The Texas Panhandle may soon have a new kind of game animal to hunt if the plans of the Texas State Game and Fish Commission take effect.

Pressure is increasing to open a hunting season on the recently introduced Barbary sheep which appear to be taking hold in the Palo Duro Canyon near here.

Barbary Sheep, a native of the Atlas Mountains of North Africa, were introduced to the Texas Panhandle from the Canadian River Gorge of New Mexico when Texas Game and Fish Commission biologists stocked 31 of the unusual animals on the Terrell Christian Ranch in the fall of 1957.

The biologists stocked 13 additional head of the big game animals in mid-winter of 1958 on the Theodore Giesler Ranch North of Quitaque.

According to all indications, the stocking was successful. Darrell Thornton, assistant game biologist, assigned to the study of the Barbary Sheep by the game and fish commission, said recently that the estimated population of the sheep has increased 91 per cent from the original 44 sheep to a present population of 400 animals.

His estimate was based on observations, study of sheep tracks and droppings and interviews with area farmers and ranchers.

Thornton said the heavy increase would indicate that the canyon is a good habitat for the sheep and that the animals have adapted to conditions in the area.

He said the average Barbary ram will weigh in at about 300 pounds and the average ewe will go 150 pounds. He said that both sexes are very similar in appearance being a ruddy tan color with long, shaggy hair. The only real difference is the size, he said.

Both sexes have long "chaps" of hair hanging from their forequarters. The hair actually is so long that it touches the ground, quite often leaving markings beside the animals' hoof prints as they walk. These "Chaps" are somewhat longer on the males, he said.

Herman Ogren, biologist for the New Mexico Game and Fish Commission, has stated that Barbary Sheep had a reproduction potential second to no hoofed game animal on the North American continent. New Mexico has had Barbary Sheep for some 13 years.

Evans said New Mexico introduced their first Barbary Sheep about 1950, and held their first public hunt in 1957 with a high 51 per cent hunter success.

This first hunt was shared by some 90 hunters who brought home 45 sheep.

The 1962 hunt with 397 hunters out of 400 permits showing, had a much lower hunter success ratio of 12 per cent. The 397 hunters brought home only 42 sheep that year.

This indicated that the sheep had gained considerable knowledge of hunters and their tactics. There are presently some 1000 Barbary Sheep in New Mexico.

Evans and Thornton agreed that Barbary Sheep, like Bighorn Sheep, do not compete with domestic livestock because they feed in places where most livestock do not go.

Evans said the sheep in the canyon are feeding on grass in locations seldom reached by cattle.

Stomach analysis of Barbary Sheep in the canyon indicate they eat some 50 per cent native grasses, 40 per cent browse (Shinnery oaks) and 10 per cent other foods including mushrooms and cactus.

Evans said the sheep seem to be very hardy animals, especially so far as parasites are concerned. He said they seem to be continually covered with parasites but never show ill effects.

He indicated that the Barbary Sheep populations in the Panhandle are being considered a source of big game hunting for Texans. Recent legislation in the Texas legislature has made them a game animal with all Panhandle game regulations applying just like deer and other game animals. They can not be hunted legally--yet.

He said they will be a different kind of hunting from what Texans know. The animals' color blends well into the canyon walls and they are extremely wary of people. The very rough terrain they inhabit is not conducive to easy hunting either.

Nonetheless, they seem to be successful in Palo Duro Canyon and are evidently increasing in numbers so that sometime soon there may be a season open to hunt them.

Loop Overpass Construction Is Announced

The Texas Highway Commission this week announced plans for the Highway Department to construct a grade separation structure at the P. & S. F. Railroad southwest of Amarillo (Randall County.)

A previous Commission action called for the construction of grading, structures and surfacing on Loop 335, from U. S. Highways 60 and 87, southwest of Amarillo, east to F.M. Road 1541, a distance of about 3.5 miles.

In the initial action, a grade crossing was planned, but further studies showed that in order to properly care for the anticipated traffic volume, a grade separation would be needed at the P. & S. F. Railroad.

Hence the Commission has directed the State Highway Engineer to proceed with construction as planned, including the grade separation, at a revised estimated cost of $385,000.

SCD News

Seedlings for windbreaks should be set out during the months February, March and April. You should use healthy, vigorous, well rooted seedlings. Texas Forest Service and local nurseries have the seedlings available for windbreak plantings.

Windbreaks will offer protection severe wind and provide shelter for livestock and wildlife.

Species adapted to this are wild plum, shunk bush, multiflora rose, in low growing shrubs; Russian olive, Tamarisk, Desert Willow, Apricot, Osage orange, and Russian mulberry in tall shrubs and low growing trees; and Chinese elm, Honey locust and Hackberry in tall trees. The Evergreens include Eastern Red cedar, Western Red cedar, Ponderosa Pine and Austrian Pine.

The wind break should give protection from the North, west, and south west winds. It should consist of three rows of trees and shrubs for maximum benefit. Shrubs should be on the inside planted 2 to 4 feet apart. Tall shrubs or low growing trees planted 6 to 8 feet apart with tall trees on the outside planted 8 to 10 feet apart. The rows should be spaced to allow for cultivation between them.

If you are interested in a farm wind break the S.C.S. technicians have information available to assist you in planning it.

Prairie Wildlife

It's a'comin'! Spring is on its way. It may slip up during a few more cold and snowy snaps--but it's a'comin'.

With the spring weather comes the fishing. It is already getting under way at the different lakes in the area.

Fishing picked up a little last week end at Buffalo, especially on Sunday. The crappie are starting to bite and even old man bass is taking in on the fun.

For those fishermen who think there aren't any bass in the Panhandle, we brought along a picture of some that came from Baylor Lake. Out of 12 fish caught, none went below seven pounds and several were over nine pounds. These bass came from a recently treated and stocked lake.

From what the fisheries boys tell us, Buffalo lake has a long way to go before it can become a good bass lake. Several factors are wrong.

Soil, size, excess of trash fish with no economical way to get rid of them and other reasons keep the bass populations down.

HUNTING , FISHING AND CONSERVATION

It is a fine crappie lake and is becoming a good white bass lake. There are some big blacks there, but they seem to be hard to locate.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Kimball and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Martin, of Wildorado, just northwest of Canyon, recently went to Acapulco down Mexico way, on an extended fishing trip.

Martin caught a 9 foot 3 inch sail that weighed 138 pounds. They tell me the record catch in that neck of the woods is 143 pounds--so Harold came pretty close to getting the local record there.

Kimball caught a sail that went 109 pounds. That is a fair sized fish in any man's book.

Anyone ever eat smoked sailfish? That's mighty good eating. The Martins and the Kimballs stayed in the Club de Spaca Hotel in Acapulco. They said they flew down and back.

Weldon Fromm of the Amarillo office of the Game and Fish Commission tells us that Floyd, Briscoe and Roberts Counties may get a transplant of several hundred mule deer this winter (1963-64) if all goes according to plan.

We didn't have many mule deer in the Panhandle until about ten years ago when the game commission started transplanting them in.

Randall County Sportsmen's Club has gotten underway with the ratification of the constitution accomplished at last Thursday night's meeting.

Morris Higley, game commissioner for West Texas was the featured speaker at the meeting. He urged the sportsmen to organize and send delegations to the game commission when they had a problem or wanted something.

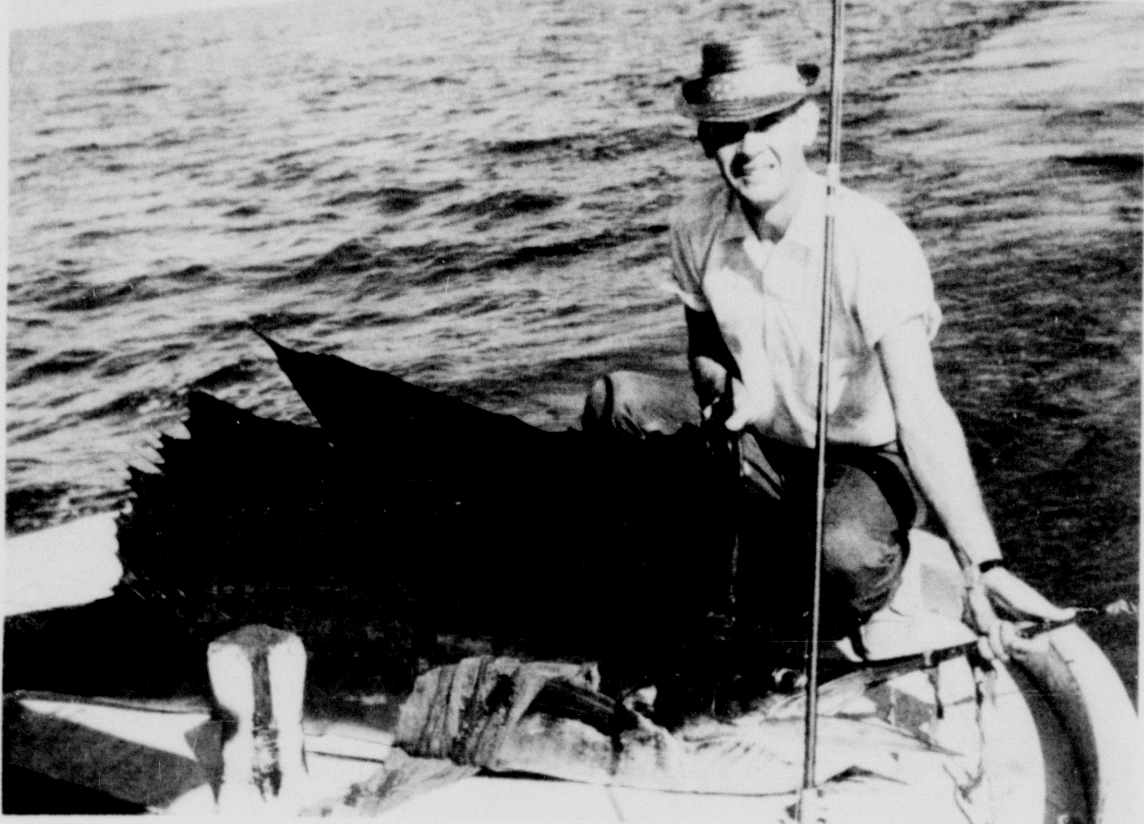

Bob Brown told of plans for Buffalo Lake Refuge and showed a fine color movie on the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge in Oklahoma.

L. J. Witkowski gave a little talk on recreation access at the coming Canadian Reservoir --or rather the lack of access.

Ronnie Meletti, biology field worker with the Texas Game and Fish Commission holds one of twelve black bass caught recently by the TGFC Inland Fisheries Crew stationed at Canyon. The twelve blacks weighed 96 pounds. They came out of Baylor Lake near Childress. These bass were weighed and returned to the lake for some lucky fisherman to catch. The 12 bass averaged 8 pounds each. WOW! (Photo by Lonnie Peters)

Harold Martin of Wildorado, poses with the near record 138 pound sailfish he caught off the Mexican coast near Acapulco. Don Kimball also caught a 103 pound sail fish on the trip. Kimball is also from Wildorado.

It may be that sooner than we think, Panhandle fishermen, boaters and other sportsmen will have to pay through the nose to even get to the water, much less use any decent facilities. It is a matter of history in Texas that the people (you and me) get cut out of the access and have to pay through the proverbial nose to use what recreation facilities there may be around the many Texas lakes. The government builds the lakes (there is only one large natural lake in Texas--Caddo Lake in East Texas) and then offers recreation land to the cities, counties and state agencies for development and management. There are seldom any takers for the land--much less its development and management. The cities are usually too short-sighted or haven't the money; the counties are usually too tight with what money they do have and the state doesn't have the money for accepting, developing and managing recreation land. (We are talking about the Texas State Parks Board.

The Game and Fish Commission has graduate biologists to care for the wildlife, the Highway Department has graduate engineers to build roads--and until last year the parks board had never to our knowledge employed a graduate in park management.

They have one such graduate now--with 50 state parks --65,000 acres and 7 million park visitors to plan, develop and manage recreation areas for. One man versus seven million visitors?

Needless to say, the state doesn't offer much hope for developing recreation at Canadian. Who does? That is a good project for the sportsmen's club.

The next meeting of the club will be March 28, the last Thursday in March. Plans call for a wild game supper (no charge) for all Randall County Sportsmen's Club Members. The place for the big shindig hasn't been set as yet. It may be at the big bar-b-que pit in Palo Duro Canyon State Park or it may be held in town. The club's organization committee has to decide this week.

So far the menu will include bar-b-que, antelope and deer and a special recipe for goose, duck and pheasant. Beans, too. Who can pass up something like that?

Memberships to the club (and the supper) can be picked up from L. J. Witkowski at 801 23rd Street, OL 5-4244 in Canyon or from Jim Thomas at the Canyon News office, OL 5-2141.

The Canyon News wants your news. Telephone OL 5-2141, or stop by the News office.

Mrs. Lizzie Covalt of Amarillo visited with Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Triplett, recently.

Recent visitors were Cynthia Mickey, Tulla, Jeanette Ely, Amarillo, Sherman McCarter, Ted Lawson and Ronnie Kinker, of Canyon.

Roy Burke and Dwaine Pettit visited with Mr. Burke's parents in Plains recently, Mr. and Mrs. George Burke.

Car Strippers Harry Officers

A student at West Texas State College had his Austin Healy sports car stolen and stripped of parts Friday night of last week while he was watching a basketball game in the WT field house.

Bill Bradley reported to Randall County Sheriff's Department early Saturday morning that his car had been stolen from its parking place in front of the field house.

Bradley found the car later Saturday morning parked at 304 2nd Street with 2 hubcaps, a tachometer and speedometer missing, according to Sheriff's department records.

Investigating sheriff's deputies found the left front plastic window had been smashed in and a part of the car's canvas top torn away, presumably to gain admittance to the automobile.

Deputy Calvin Costley reported that the car had been driven about 30 miles after it was stolen.

Dashboard instruments from a county road maintainer were stolen last week from a garage in Umbarger. Randall County sheriff's department reports that similar thefts have been occurring in towns surrounding Canyon and Amarillo.

Canyon Couple Grows Interesting Plants

BY JIM THOMAS

The Levi Coles of Canyon grow cacti and succulents, believed by some to be among the most interesting plants in the world.

They grow these plants in a greenhouse at their home 1111 Eighth Avenue, and have been growing them as a hobby for the past 30 years.

The Coles have a back yard greenhouse which is packed with interesting and beautiful plants. They are especially proud of their succulents and cacti.

The blossoms of these plants are bright and beautiful. In its habitat, the cacti itself an unobtrusive plant, will have the biggest and brightest blossoms of any plant for miles around. Some of the blooms in the Cole greenhouse will bear out this statement.

Succulents are drought resisting plants. They store up large quantities of water in thick, fleshy leaves and stems during heavy rainfall. This is used later during seasons of scanty moisture.

Contrary to popular notion, cacti and their kindred, succulents, are not limited to the desert. They are found in mountain regions, in jungles and along ocean shores as well as in the more familiar desert conditions.

The Coles have long known that succulents and cacti blend well with modern architecture, are a challenge to grow and have striking beauty.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cole are prodigious readers and buy most of the new works on plants, especially succulents. They are quite naturally, pretty well up on the subject.

As Mrs. Cole shows visitors around their 20 by 30 foot glass covered greenhouse, she points to this plant and that, offering interesting bits of information about each plant.

The visitor might be surprised to find that all succulents are not cacti, whereas all cacti are succulents. Also all cacti don't grow in the desert. Other points of information about the interesting plants is that they all don't thrive in brilliant sunshine and that they all don't require sparse moisture conditions.

Indeed, some of the succulents grow in very cold climates, deep in shade and require considerable water.

Succulents can be grown in nearly any container or pot—in dish gardens and window pans.

They can be set in arrangements just like other flowering plants and even can be used to make beautiful corsages--(the flowers, that is).

Rock gardens, room dividers and hanging baskets are examples of where succulents can be grown in limited space. It is also worthwhile to say that few if any of the succulents have the traditional spines and thorns. Most cacti have them, and not all of the cacti are so armed.

Some of the succulents and cacti the Coles have in their greenhouse have interesting names reminding one of exotic and interesting places.

Such plants as spotted oxtail, rice cactus, christmas cactus (which blooms only at Christmas), hanging heart vine, giant star-fish and Indian face cactus are examples.

Most of the succulents appear to have gotten their names from their unusual flowers. The flowers of these plants often take on unusual shapes and colors--they always seem to be of brilliant hue.

Flowering succulents that are likely to be found in this portion of the Southwest, can be divided into three main types: the drought escaping, drought evading and drought resisting.

Each of the plants that fit under these descriptions have found ways and means of adapting to the hard life of the dry Southwest.

Drought escaping succulents and cacti are those which develop quickly during the short rainy season of the deserts. They bloom, produce seeds and wither away until the next rainy season.

Drought evading plants merely drop their leaves during the dry months and remain dormant until the short wet season again comes around.

Drought resisting plants are those which have found some means of standing the hot dry conditions without slowing their growing processes. The cacti come under this latter heading most often.

Cacti are adapted for dry conditions by having few if any leaves to lose moisture through. They also have thick stems which store water and which have a thin layer of cutin or wax on their surface to prevent further loss of water.

David Bar-Illan, 33-year-old Israeli pianist, will appear tonight (Thursday) in Canyon High School auditorium under the auspices of the Community Concert Association.

Community Concert Program Is Scheduled Here Tonight

Concert-goers in Canyon and this area are in for an exceptional musical fest tonight (Thursday) when David Bar-Illan, young Israeli pianist, plays in the Canyon high school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

He is being presented by the Canyon Community Concert Association. His is the second program on the schedule for this year's members. He will be the first concertist to play on the brand new grand piano being purchased by the community for the high school auditorium.

Bar-Illan made an auspicious debut with the New York Philharmonic under Dimitri Mitropoulos in January, 1960. Critics then said of him, "This boy can play!"

The current season, he is performing more than 20 concerts with the San Antonio Symphony, and following his extensive recitals in key American cities, he will return for an eight-week period to Europe.

appearing in Holland, Germany, France, Denmark and England. Also during this season, he has made debut with the Cleveland, Philadelphia and Indianapolis orchestras, as well as appearing with the Cincinnati, San Antonio and Duluth symphonies.

In a few short years, David Bar-Illan has carved out an impressive musical record, and is ranked high as one of today's rising young pianists. He has won acclaim throughout North America, South America and Europe for his "supreme virtuosity" in performances with major orchestras under leading conductors and on "blue-clip" concert series.

A champion of the contemporary composer, Bar-Illan has introduced many works by his Israeli countrymen, like Starer and Ben-Haim. His interpretations of the great classics have marked him as a "poet of the keyboard."

David Bar-Illan was born in Haifa, Israel in 1930, a third generation Palestinian. His grandfather was a composer of liturgical music and his father, now one of Israel's leading electrical engineers, is an accomplished pianist in his own right. David's younger sister is now in the United States, studying at the Mannes College of Music.

"When I was four, I heard Toscanini conduct the first performance of the Israel Philharmonic and was hypnotized by that concert," he recalls. "I immediately begged my parents to let me begin lessons."

While David was in the United States for later study, the Israeli war of independence broke out and he returned to Israel, where he joined the Hagannah. When the peace was won, he returned to his music and completed his studies at Juillard and at the Mannes College of Music.

He began his professional career in 1954 and has steadily been winning an international reputation as one of today's most exciting young piano virtuosos.

Admission to tonight's performance is by membership card or as a guest of a member. Members are also reminded of imminent concerts in towns with which the Canyon association has reciprocity. They are the Leonard Rose appearance at Monterey High School auditorium, Lubbock, March 12, and the Orchestra San Pietro of Naples performance at the Marshall auditorium, Clovis, March 14. Both programs are scheduled for 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Shell visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Skipper of Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Shell were enroute to Ft. Ord, California, due to the fact that Mr. Shell is being transferred by the Army from Ft. Belvoir, Virginia. He has 6 1/2 months left to serve with the armed service.

Mr. Shell and Mr. Skipper served together in Ft. Belvoir, Va., and also in Greenland.

Former Canyon Couple Abducted At Gunpoint

A former Canyon couple and their three children were held at gunpoint in their home in Hereford and then kidnapped Friday night.

The couple is Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nunley. Mrs. Nunley is the former Helen Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Spencer. She lived most of her life in Canyon.

Jack also lived here and worked for Taylor & Sons. He currently is manager of that firm's Hereford store.

Two men are being held in Deaf Smith County jail in connection with the incident. Charges alleging armed robbery and kidnapping were filed Saturday against Ronald Trisler, 23, Plainview, and James Wiley Wimberly, 27, Olton.

The pair is alleged to have held the Nunley family at gunpoint in their home for more than an hour in an effort to force Nunley to open the safe at the Taylor & Sons store.

They finally were convinced that the store's safe is on a time lock and could not be opened. The house was ransacked and even the children's piggy banks were emptied.

Then one man drove the family 14 miles out in the country in the family car, followed by another man in another car. The wires on the Nunley car were tampered and the family was stranded.

Nunley managed to effect repairs enough to drive slowly to a nearby farm house and sound the alarm.

Trisler and Wimberly surrendered meekly to Highway Patrolman Ed Richards about 12:30 o'clock Saturday morning on a county road approximately 6 miles east of Hereford.
